Gypsies is based on the original maquette for Josef Koudelka's book Cikáni (Czech for Gypsies), prepared by Koudelka and graphic designer Milan Kopriva in 1968, and intended for publication in Prague in 1970. However, Koudelka left Czechoslovakia in 1970, and the book was never published in that original form. Now available in an affordable compact edition, the book has been revised and resequenced. Comprising 109 photographs taken between 1962 and 1971 in what was Czechoslovakia (Bohemia, Moravia and Slovakia), Romania, Hungary, France and Spain, it is a unique record of a vanished world. The Gypsies in these images were photographed during the 1960s, mostly in a state that no longer exists, and ruled by a regime that disintegrated in 1989. Will Guy, author of the text that accompanied the first publication of Gypsies, contributes an entirely new essay tracing the migration of the Roma from their original homeland in northern India, to their current status - one that continues to be contested internationally

A volume of largely unpublished works is comprised of pieces that were taken with a Polaroid camera as part of the photographer's effort to recover from the loss of his wife and features scenes that were shot in and from his New York City Washington Square apartment.

BONUS: This edition contains an excerpt from Danielle Steel's Betrayal. A magical transformation takes place in Danielle Steel's luminous novel: Strangers become roommates, roommates become friends, and friends become a family in a turn-of-the-century house in Manhattan's West Village. The plumbing was prone to leaks, the furniture rescued from garage sales. And every square inch was being devotedly restored to its original splendor—even as a relationship fell to pieces. Now Francesca Thayer, newly separated from her boyfriend, is suddenly the sole mortgage payer on her Greenwich Village townhouse. The struggling art gallery owner does the math and then the unimaginable. She puts out an advertisement for boarders, and soon her home becomes a whole new world. First comes Eileen, a fresh, pretty L.A. transplant, now a New York City schoolteacher. Then there's Chris, a young father fighting for custody of his seven-year-old son. The final tenant is Marya, a celebrated cookbook author hoping to start a new chapter in life after the death of her husband. Over the course of one amazing, unforgettable, ultimately life-changing year, Francesca discovers that her accidental tenants have become the most important people in her life. The house at 44 Charles Street fills with laughter, heartbreak, and hope—and in the hands of master storyteller Danielle Steel, it's a place those who visit will never want to leave.

'What you call a ghetto, I call my home' - Bruce Davidson East 100th Street, New York, was in the 1960s one of the city's most notorious slums. Magnum photographer Bruce Davidson spent two years of his life photographing the people of this block. An affecting testament to the lives lived within a community, the conditions suffered, the individual tales of trials and hopes, and the joy found in the most impossible places, this beautifully reproduced collection of photographs captures a time, place and people with tender respect. Running counter to prevailing artistic trends, Lynn Stern's work ignores popular culture in favor of her own austere internal world. Frozen Mystery is a profound meditation on death and the human psyche, explored through works spanning three decades. Stern's imagery of skulls, which runs through five distinct bodies of work, is unique in contemporary photography (though certainly a tradition in art history). Stern works in series, exclusively in black and white and exclusively in natural, indirect light; the results are characterized by a luminosity that is at least as important as her ostensible subject matter. "My aim," she writes, "is to de-literalize what is in front of the lens--to make it the expression of something unseen, something beyond the thing itself." Exploring, in part, the relationship between photography and painting, Frozen Mystery accompanies a major retrospective of Stern's work at the Museo Fundación Cristóbal Gabarrón in Valladolid, Spain.

Here is the history we've been waiting for ... erudite and entertaining ... she shows how pictures really did change our world. Her shrewd selection of over 600 fascinating photos (many in colour) illustrate a history that meets the ultimate test; open to any page and you're hooked ... and it's free from tormenting academic jargon. Camera Arts This groundbreaking survey of international photography, which examines the discipline across the full range of its uses by both professionals and amateurs, has been expanded and brought up to date for this second edition. Each of the eight chapters takes a period of up to forty years and examines the medium through the lenses of art, science, social science, travel, war, fashion, the mass media and individual practitioners. These broad topics complement a fully developed cultural context whose emphasis is more on key ideas than individuals. The author also pays close attention to how contemporary practitioners, commentators and beholders have talked about specific works, the nature of photography and the photographers changing role in society. Cover title: Taking better travel photos. Moves from planning a trip to photographing it and organizing a travelogue.

The first comprehensive study of animated landscapes across media.

Vivian the giant wiener dog is moving to the BIG city and dealing with giant-sized changes. The city sounds like the perfect place for a dog like her—but when she arrives, everything seems too small! And moving is stressful! But soon she meets a new friend. Lulu shows Vivian around and together they hop on the subway, visit the museum, and best of all, eat pizza! Fans of photographic picture books such as What the Dinosaurs Did Last Night and The Secret Life of Squirrels will love this irresistible look into a larger-than-life wiener dog and her adventures in the big city. From debut author and photographer Mitch Boyer comes a story perfect for helping readers deal with big changes and the perfect gift for dog lovers everywhere.

Celebrating beloved Canadian artists, the Collected series is beautifully designed with an affordable format, ideal for gift buyers and visitors. Canadian artist Ted Harrison began to paint as a young boy in school, and in the years since, has both worked and taught as an artist, an illustrator, and an author. The artist's move to the Yukon in the 1960s opened up his style to the breathtaking artistic interpretations of sea, land, and sky that he is so famous for today. Sweeping lines and broad swatches of color are iconic in Harrison's paintings, and this collection showcases the multitudes of subjects and settings that he depicts using that signature style. Pairing bold, whimsical colors with sophisticated depictions of life, culture, and the people who live in the wintery North, Ted Harrison's paintings have a time-tested value and charm that appeals to all ages. This volume is a compendium of some of Harrison's best and most memorable works. With an introductory essay by author Robert Budd, this collection is a tribute to one of Canada's most-loved artists.

A pesar de su aparente sencillez, las grandes fotografías de paisajes siempre suponen un gran reto. Sin embargo, al contrario de lo que ocurre con otras modalidades fotográficas, no se necesita de equipos complejos para recoger los paisajes en una fotografía. La inmensa mayoría se conmueve ante paisajes sublimes. Es frecuente que entonces fluyan nuestros mejores y más amables sentimientos y comprendamos, intuitivamente, el atractivo emocional de un paraje natural. En este libro, el maestro de la fotografía de paisajes Harold Davis mostrará cómo analizar el paisaje en términos de composición, exposición e iluminación, con conceptos artísticos y prácticos. Las técnicas de pos-procesado, entre las que se incluyen el HDR, el procesamiento múltiple de imágenes en formato RAW y el enfoque selectivo en color LAB le ayudarán a desarrollar y liberar su imaginación.

A novel attempt to make sense of our preoccupation with copies of all kinds -- from counterfeits to instant replay, from parrots to photocopies.

Acclaimed photographer Carl Warner invites you to explore colourful miniature landscapes made entirely of edible ingredients. As seen on CBS Sunday Morning · A hilarious pictorial parody of a clueless father and his adorable daughter In an attempt to create an image that his new daughter would one day appreciate, Dave Engledow took a photo in which he's cradling eight-week-old Alice Bee like a football and doctored it to look like he's squirting breast milk into a "World's Best Father" mug. Friends and family clamored for more. After Dave's humorous attempts to capture the sleep-deprived obliviousness of being a first-time dad went viral, he and Alice Bee found themselves bona fide Internet and television celebrities. Merging a Norman Rockwell aesthetic with a darkly comic sensibility, Dave pairs each side-splittingly funny image with a log entry describing the awkward situation that the World's Best Father has found himself in. Hilarious and heartwarming, Confessions of the World's Best Father is a celebration of the early years of parenthood.

Fourteen-year-old March Wong knows everything there is to know about trees. They are his passion and his obsession, even after his recent falls--and despite the state's threat to take him away from his mother if she can't keep him from getting hurt. But the young autistic boy cannot resist the captivating pull of the Pacific Northwest's lush forests just outside his back door. One day, March is devastated to learn that the Eagle Tree--a monolithic Ponderosa Pine near his home in Olympia--is slated to be cut down by developers. Now, he will do anything in his power to save this beloved tree, including enlisting unlikely support from relatives, classmates, and even his bitter neighbor. In taking a stand, March will come face-to-face with some frightening possibilities: Even if he manages to save the Eagle Tree, is he risking himself and his mother to do it? Intertwining themes of humanity and ecology, The Eagle Tree eloquently explores what it means to be part of a family, a society, and the natural world that surrounds and connects us.

El IVAM presenta por primera vez en España la obra de la artista eslovena, con una instalación site specific -creada expresamente para el lugar que ocupa-, que continúa su trayectoria artística, cuyo principal objetivo es el de llamar la atención sobre el conjunto de negociaciones que es necesario realizar para sobrevivir en entornos urbanos. Esta nueva obra pone de manifiesto su continuo interés por la tecnología autosuficiente y es, además la primera instalación de la artista en la que el público puede acceder al interior. La instalación se documenta en un catálogo que publica textos de Francesco Careri, Max Protetch, Ana Ma Torres, Kosme de Barañano y la propia artista Marjetica Potrc. La obra de Marjetica Potrc es una labor de documentación de los espacios urbanos y de las tensiones que éstos generan. Mientras lleva a cabo su obra encuentra soluciones autosuficientes que dan poder a los individuos y, por lo tanto, a la sociedad como un todo. Al llevar al ámbito de las galerías y de los museos sus reconstrucciones de barrios de chabolas y de otros lugares "regidos por sus reglas propias", como los desarrollados a partir de "unidades centrales" -estructuras y recursos de carácter básico a partir de los cuales se puede construir un hogar-, Potrc ofrece una estética de arquitectura de muy bajo presupuesto que, con el uso de materiales propios de la zona y de "colores alegres", resulta a veces, paradójicamente, más avanzada que un tipo de arquitectura "estilizada de tipo urbano". Marjetica Potrc es una artista y arquitecta establecida en Liubliana. Su obra se ha expuesto en toda Europa y en los Estados Unidos, incluyendo exposiciones en el Center for Curatorial Studies Museum, Bard College, Annandale-on-Hudson, Nueva York (1996) ; en la Bienal de São Paulo, São Paulo, Brasil (1996) ; Skulptur. Projekte en Münster (1997) ; La Casa, il Corpo, il Cuore: Konstruktion der Identitaeten, Museum Moderner Kunst Stiftung Ludwig, Viena (1999) ; Urban Visions, Worcester Art Museum, Worcester, Massachusetts (1999) ; Manifesta 3, Liubliana, Eslovenia (2000) ; Guggenheim Museum, Nueva York (2001); Kuenstlerhaus Bethanien, Berlín, Alemania (2001) ; y Max Protetch Gallery, Nueva York (2002). Además, Potrc ha recibido un gran número de premios, incluyendo becas de la Pollock-Krasner Foundation (1993 y 1999) y del Centro de Arte Contemporáneo Soros, de Liubliana (1994), el Premio de Escultura Parque de la Memoria, de Buenos Aires (2000), una beca Philip Morris Kunstfoerderung para participar en el Programa Estudio Internacional Kuenstlerhaus Bethanien, de Berlín (2000), y el Hugo Boss Prize 2000, del Guggenheim Museum neoyorquino.

The advent of photography opened up new worlds to 19th century viewers, who were able to visualize themselves and the world beyond in unprecedented detail. But the emphasis on the photography's objectivity masked the subjectivity inherent in deciding what to record, from what angle and when. This text examines this inherent subjectivity. Drawing on photographs that come from personal albums, corporate archives, commercial photographers, government reports and which were produced as art, as record, as data, the work shows how the photography shaped and was shaped by geographical concerns.

With consummate craftsmanship, Mary Oliver, a Pulitzer Prize and National Book Award-winning author, has fashioned 15 luminous prose pieces, ten never before published, which should be of singular interest to lovers of nature, students of writing, and the many admirers of her work.

Winner of the National Book Critics' Circle Award for Criticism. One of the most highly regarded books of its kind, "On Photography" first appeared in 1977 and is described by its author as " a progress of essays about the meaning and career of photographs." It begins with the famous " In Plato' s Cave" essay, then offers five other prose meditations on this topic, and concludes with a fascinating and far-reaching " Brief Anthology of Quotations."

Jamie Johnson is a seven-year-old girl with an annoying older sister, a short attention span, and a hobby of collecting paint sample cards. Laren Lark is an almost thirteen-year-old girl with a love of books, a talent for poetry, and a past full of roadschool adventures. This is a whimsical story about what happened to them one fateful summer.

For this new commission for the Brighton Photo Biennial 2010, New Documents, curated by Martin Parr, Hackney based photographer Stephen Gill has created Outside In, a series steered and guided by the physical place itself, literally scooping up bits of Brighton and dropping parts of it into his camera. Gill employs finds such as seaweed, local plant life, a false eyelash, a jelly bear, fish tails, etc discovered on his travels or near where his photographs are made. Insects crawl across the film emulsion like creatures caught in amber. The objects introduced to the camera chamber are integral to the photographs rather than superimposed, their place in the composition occurring entirely at random and establishing both harmony and conflict.

Every day, children the world over sing, shout, and celebrate Mother Goose rhymes. And now there's a new reason to cheer: Nina Crews has added her own remarkable, jazzy style of illustration to a collection of forty-one favorite verses. Whether it's Jack jumping over a candlestick (atop a cupcake), Georgie Porgie kissing the girls (at the playground), or a fine lady riding a white horse (on the carousel), this exuberant treasury is sure to be read and enjoyed over and over again.

More than 250 illustrations illustrate the significance and creative use of color in fashion illustration From the first rough sketch pursuing the development of an idea into fabric choice and draping style, fashion design is an exercise in imagination and problem solving. When it comes to documenting the evolution of fashion as culture, we could safely say that illustration has become fashion design's number one ambassador, covering a visual timeline of materials, techniques and styles that have graced the fashion world over the past century. This book features more than 250 illustrations. Practical exercises will guide you through creative activities focused on contemporary fashion illustration. The exercises include suggestions and tips, and are executed by practicing contemporary illustrators. Instruction provided will allow designers to improve their drawing skills and communicate their vision effectively through a range of illustration mediums that incorporate color as a contributing element for both style and texture. With this special attention to color and how it is perceived the illustrations highlight how subtle nuances or striking changes can occur when rendered using different techniques in gouache, watercolor, pencil, pastels or digital, and how these materials can transform the feel and mood of each illustration.

Eastern Oregon rancher Jack Richardson needs someone to wrangle his two sons, and Quanna Morales is the available candidate. She needs a steady job badly, so she jumps on the opportunity, even though she's focused on her education and busy helping her mother take care of her disabled brother. Jack and Quanna can't fight their attraction, but Quanna worries his family and friends will exhibit the anti-Indian prejudice she's only too used to encountering. And if things go badly between them, Quanna will not be able to help support her family and the boys will have lost yet another mother figure. When her worst fears come true and a feud erupts at the Thanksgiving table, will Jack be able to convince her that their love is strong enough to overcome any obstacle? Sensuality Level: Sensual

This volume provides technical insight on how genomics-oriented studies may be used to bring new understanding to established models of fungal development. The book helps to assess and solve problems associated with multiple copies of genes and proteins with seemingly identical functions and depicts various industrial applications.
